THE DAILY AVALANCHE.

The White Man's Platform.

I hold that this Government was made on the white basis. By white men, for the benefit of white men and their posterity forever, and that our political rights and privileges, and the control of it, should be forever maintained in the hands of the white race, as long as they are capable of self government.—Stephen A. Douglas.

Hear President LINCOLN in reply:

I AM NOT, NOR EVER HAVE BEEN, IN FAVOR OF MAKING VOTERS OR JURORS OF NEGROES nor of qualifying them to hold office, or intermarrying with white people, and I will say, in addition to this, that there is a PHYSICAL DIFFERENCE between the white and black race, which, I believe, will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality. And, inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do remain together there must be a position of superior and inferior, and I am in favor of assigning to the white man, as far as I can, the superior position ASSIGNED TO THE WHITE RACE.

Two years before the death of DANIEL WEBSTER he said:

"IF THESE IMPERTINENT Zealots and Abolitionists ever get the power, into their own hands, they will overrule the decisions of the Supreme Court, as often as they see cause, and control the Executive and Legislative departments. In short, they will raise a tempest which will sweep the country and destroy it with blood."

Finally, bankrupt the country and destroy it with blood."

On September 3, 1842, twenty-five years ago, HENRY CLAY said:

The great object of the question is the free States will, for the first time, have the power to control the destinies of the Republic. The contest is for Abolition and amalgamation, and the object of your fanatical and fiendish zeal is to accomplish that end.

But the great and real object of your fuss should be to arouse the laboring classes of the free States against Abolition. Depict the consequences to them of immediate emancipation. The slaves being free, would be dispersed throughout the Union; they would enter into competition with the free laborers of the North; the Irish, the Germans, reduce his wages, be confounded with him, and defeat his moral and social standing. And as the whole party both for Abolition and amalgamation, show that their object is to unite in marriage the lab ring white man and the laboring black woman, and from the wells laboring man to the degraded and depressed condition of the black race.

I would show their opposition to Colonization, those to humane, benevolent and patriotic aim. That they are incompatible where they had separated. Why do the Abolitionists oppose Colonization? To keep and amalgamate together the two races, in violation of God's will, and to keep the blacks here, that they may interfere with, degrade and debase the laboring whites. Show that the British Government is co-operating with the Abolitionists, for the purpose of dissolving the Union, etc. You can make a powerful article, that will be felt in every extremity of the Union. I am sure, forcing subject it will do great good. Let me hear from you, on this subject.

A farmer in Maine fell on a pitchfork recently. The tine passed through his neck between the windpipe and the jugular vein, but injuring neither.

A rupture between the President and Secretary McCulloch is reported by Washington correspondents, who say he will resign on Monday, or just as soon as the vote is taken on impeachment, whether the President is convicted on not.

Some dastardly scoundrel hurled a stone through the window of a passenger car on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad one day last week. A piece of broken glass struck one of the lady passengers in the face, inflicting a severe wound.

By the new license law of Massachusetts, the "Prohibitory law" is repealed. The new law goes into effect on the 23d of May. In all the counties but Suffolk and Nantucket licenses may be granted by County Commissioners. In these two counties special commissioners are to be chosen.

The Philadelphians propose to have a driving park in the northern section of their city which will be kept free of fast gentlemen who drive fast horses—a place where families may drive without being subject to the fear of having their vehicles dashed into by others drawn at the break-neck speed. Such a drive would be found useful for almost any large city.

A man calling himself Colonel H. C. Clarke was arrested in Providence, Rhode Island, on Saturday, for swindling Colonel Amasa Sprague and other members of the Narragansett Park Association. He is said to be a confidence man of wide spread notoriety, who is wanted in various parts of the country. He claimed connection with various newspapers and raised several hundred dollars.

The health of the Archduchess Cariotta continues to improve so steadily that the best results are looked for. With the exception of certain fits of sullenness, which are becoming less frequent, the Princess feels nothing of the painful malady from which she has been suffering. She sleeps well, and her appetite has returned, and with this a taste for study. She passes almost the entire day in her reading and writing room, and receives no one except members of the royal family.

Saturday's Union and Dispatch says that a tornado swept over the country between Columbia and Pulaski on Wednesday, carrying away roofs and fences, uprooting trees, and laying waste a considerable territory. Poplar trees three feet in diameter were broken like reeds. The roof of Dave Reynolds' carriage-house, at Reynolds' station, was blown off, and part of a house near Carter's creek was torn away. This tornado occurred simultaneously with that which devastated the country twelve miles south of Nashville.

Knoxville correspondence (7th) of the Press and Times says: "The track laying on the Knoxville and Charleston railroad has been recently commenced, and is being vigorously pushed forward. The bridge over the river here, built by A. L. Maxwell, is a splendid piece of workmanship, and is one of the best bridges in the State. The cars passed over it for the first time last week, and are now running out about a half mile beyond the river. Should the weather prove favorable the track will be laid to Maryville by the 1st of August."

Near Peoria, Illinois, Benjamin Twitzleton, a farmer, murdered his wife, Eleanor, last Tuesday, by shooting her in the leg, the ball cutting a main artery, and causing her to bleed to death. The man and woman were had children by previous marriages, and some disagreement about one of these led to a quarrel, in the course of which the female Twitzleton first attempted to break her husband's head with a poker, and then threw a bucket of water in his face. This brought Twitzleton to a sudden conviction that, in the language of Mrs. Partington, "patience had ceased to be virtuous," and he fired two shots at her, one of which took effect as stated.

LETTER FROM BROWNSVILLE.

Its Educational Institutes and Business Features.

Prominent Men of Haywood County, Etc., Etc.

[Special Correspondence of the Avalanche.]

BROWNSVILLE, TENN., May 9.

The traveler who passes over the Memphis and Ohio railroad, and thinks he has seen Brownsville, is as much mistaken as if he were to pass down the Mississippi, and believe that he had seen Memphis. The town, or the city, as it will soon be called, covers a large area of ground, not visible from the railroad cars, as I am convinced by spending a day or two in the place. No place in the country, of the same size, has more fine society, beauty and manliness, and fewer bad influences. Commercially, its importance is rapidly increasing, and business of every kind is looking up and improving. Individually, the citizens are very enterprising, but as a body there might be more public spirit.

THE BEE.

One of the first places I visited here was the office of the Brownsville Bee, a new paper, of handsome appearance and sound Democratic principles. The editors are Mr. W. Lyle Westbrook, of Mississippi formerly, a skillful printer—a gentleman and a rising young journalist—and Dr. R. W. Beers, of this place, a ready writer, who has the ability and energy to insure success. The Bee should be sustained, and if it not, then am I mistaken in the spirit of Haywood county people.

IN EMBRYO.

Brownsville has many of the beauties of a city. The place contains not less than three thousand inhabitants, and many elegant and tasteful residences, evidently abodes of mental culture and social enjoyment. Many new houses have gone up within the present year. On the west side of the square a splendid hotel is in process of erection, and when completed will be an ornament to the square and the town.

EDUCATIONAL.

The Baptist Female College is located west of the town, on a slight elevation, and is surrounded by highly cultivated grounds. Rev. Mr. Norton, a gentleman of learning and eminent piety, has charge at present, but for some reason the number of students is not as large as the extent of the buildings and the reputation of the place would suggest. The college, from a distance, presents an imposing appearance, and is said to be well stored with libraries, apparatus, furniture, and all the appliances of learning.

Crawford's Female Institute is in charge of Prof. Williams, and numbers about seventy students. The building is handsomely constructed and admirably adapted to the uses of education. The course is very thorough discipline mild but efficient, and the system progressive.

Brownsville Male Academy is under the highly efficient management of Rev. W. A. Haynes, A. M., assisted by Prof. J. G. H. Buck, gentlemen of talents and experience. Dr. C. H. Sevier is the Secretary of the Board of Trustees. The Academy, under the present management, is pronounced by many, by all, save perhaps a few of the ihoys who may demur at the new regime of discipline.

BUSINESS FEATURES AND MEN.

There are many large flourishing business houses here, and the question arises: "who buys so many goods?" Haywood is a large, wealthy county, and several other populous counties do the most of their trading at Brownsville. Among the more prominent wholesale houses, I noticed Bradford & Co., dry goods merchants; D. Felsenthal & Bro., dry goods; Taylor, Wood & Co., grocers and commission merchants. In the large, splendid house, I had the pleasure of meeting an old army comrade, after three years' separation—Mr. D. B. Raworth, so long connected with Colonel John S. Bradford, of Bragg's army. Like any good Confederate, he is hard at work and getting along independently.

Wilson & Hoakes' stove and tin house is one of the largest establishments of the place, and one of the most prosperous, for they are liberal and judicious advertisers. They are a whole team, and a go-a-head team at that. Mr. S. A. Wilson was a gallant member of Carnes' battery; although born in a more northern clime, he has identified himself with Brownsville by a fair through fight. Mr. Hoakes is well and favorably known in Memphis, having been prominently connected with the house of Blood & Co.

'Squire J. L. Winfield, of the staunch house of C. F. Taliafero & Co., is one of the leading and best citizens of this county. He stands "A No. 1" whether as neighbor, citizen or business man. Politically he is O. K. and sound as an old fashioned silver dollar.

MUNICIPAL AND COUNTY OFFICERS.

The Mayor of the city of Brownsville is Mr. J. M. Rutledge, a gentleman in every sense. J. L. Poston is County Court Clerk; J. L. Winfield, Chancery Clerk; J. M. Rutledge, Circuit Court Clerk; Calvin Stevens, Register; John Sherman, Sheriff; John Clinton, Postmaster; Colonel George C. Porter, County Surveyor; George W. Hall, County Trustee; Wm. P. Bond, great Judge; Wm. Rogers, Attorney General. Some of these are Conservatives; others are not—exactly.

MASONIC.

The Masonic fraternity appears to be large and flourishing. They own a fine hall and meet regularly. Haywood Lodge No. 58, with brother B. J. Lea as Worshipful, meets twice per month, and is in fine working condition. Haywood Chapter No. 28, B. J. McKlesky, H. P., meets on the first and second Friday of each month. Haywood Council No. 10, J. A. Rogers, T. I. G. M., meets four times per year. The pure principles of the order are observed strictly, and the effect is visible even to a stranger.

I. O. O. F.

Brownsville Encampment No. 12—H. C. Sangster is C. P., S. M. Russell, H. P., J. H. Smith, S. W., Wm. Sangster, Treasurer, J. M. Comegys, Scribe—meets first and third Thursday night of each month.

Haywood Lodge No. 20—J. W. Peebles is N. G., M. McGrath, V. G., Wm. Sangster, Treasurer, H. C. Sangster, C. P.—meets every Monday night.

LAWYERS.

Among the prominent lawyers of the city, whom I have met or incidently heard of since my arrival are, first, the firm of T. J. & J. H. Freeman. The first was as gallant a Colonel in the Confederate army as ever drew a blade, and the other was not less brave and devoted. They are as successful at the bar as they were gallant in the field.

Colonel B. J. Lee and Captain Livingston constitute the splendid and successful law firm of Lee & Lee. The former commanded a regiment during the war, and the latter was General Forrest's Judge Advocate.

Captain S. L. Tarnar, who was shot nearly all away in saving the "Last Chance," gives close attention to his profession, and has every evidence of success and prosper of success, and is entitled to it.

Captain A. D. Bright is another promising member of the bar, and a rising young citizen, of this growing town.

Colonel George C. Porter, who succeeded Colonel W. H. Stephens, of Memphis, is considered to be 6th Tennessee regiment, and was frequently complimented for his valor. He holds the office of County Surveyor, and deserves it for its proficiency as a surveyor. Many lines of his private surveying are run by the lines of the United States Government, and are correct to the world over, and he has given that up long ago. Old Rough and Ready works most for reputation.

E. J. and J. C. Read are lawyers of considerable note from St. Louis.

Major W. B. Grove is a whole-souled, big-hearted, close-headed gentleman of the honest old school. He is eminent as a lawyer and a gentleman. He sent four noble sons to the army; two of them fell battling for the right—the others returned. He is an uncompromising advocate of the right, and an unflinching enemy of tyrants, despots and scalawags. Other members of the bar may be mentioned next week sometime.

EXCHANGE HOTEL.

No feature has so much to do with the name of a place like this as its hotels. Fortunately for Brownsville it has the "Exchange," kept by Mr. C. F. Read, with Mr. S. H. Albertson, a clever gentleman, at the desk. It is well kept, is first class, and therefore the headquarters of Memphis people.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Supreme Court stands adjourned until next Tuesday. There are about seventy cases on the docket to come up before Memphis is reached.

A Methodist Sabbath celebration was given last night at the Crawford Institute, and the building was jammed to its utmost capacity. The stage was handsomely decorated with wreaths and festoons of flowers and evergreens. The exercises were highly creditable to pupils and instructors. The recitations, vocal and instrumental music, dialogues, etc., were well rendered and frequently applauded by the discriminating audience. Miss Amanda Taylor, a charming girl with a wealth of rich, dark ringlets falling over her shoulders, was crowned May Queen by Miss Jennie Philbrick, another sweet young nymph. The ceremonies were beautifully performed by beautiful young ladies.

When the regular exercises concluded, the Superintendent, Colonel A. H. Bradford, introduced a young gentleman from Memphis, whose name I did not understand; notwithstanding this disadvantage, he proceeded to deliver one of the most floral speeches I ever heard. It reminded me of Elmwood, where the aroma of flowers pervaded the air and gushing melody thrilled the heart of obdinate man. The youthful orator made a display which was reflected back in a shower of bouquets, and did honor to his horticultural instructors. His speech was well written, well learned and delivered faultlessly. Though if he is to be a lawyer, as some one in the crowd suggested, he will learn a different style—before he gains many cases. Not to be too critical, he did well.

PERSONAL.

Mr. G. C. Osborne, a clever young gentleman, is depot agent. Your correspondent begs to return many thanks for favors received at his hands. All the attaches of the road are gentlemen, efficient and polite. For various favors and courtesies extended by different persons, who will understand, I take this manner of expressing sincere appreciation.

MONDAY'S NOON DISPATCHES

NEW YORK May 11.—A mob in Bridge street, Brooklyn, on Saturday night, attempted the rescue of two prisoners who were being taken to the station house. Stones and bricks were hurled at the two officers who had them in charge, and several pistol shots were fired. Charles McKinney, in his own store at the time, was severely wounded in the thigh. The prisoners were finally secured.

The coroner's jury investigating the case of the death of Mary Sherman, found lifeless on the floor of her room in James street, returned a verdict yesterday charging her husband, John Sherman, with the murder. He was committed.

A tornado visited Hudson river, near Cold Spring, on Saturday, capsizing one vessel and throwing another on her beam ends, and driving three others ashore on Coney Point. No lives lost.

Dr. G. W. Douglass, his wife and three children, were poisoned in New York Saturday, by eating a shad which had been purchased from a traveling fish monger. One of the children is dead. The rest of the family were still alive last night.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Herald's Washington dispatch says the friends of acquittal feel sure of six Republicans voting on their side. Betting is at a stand still. Senator Wilson stated in a conversation with a gentleman last week that Morrill, of Maine, told him he was greatly worried; that things looked quite blue, and that his colleague, Fessenden, was preparing an adverse opinion to conviction.

A Washington special to the Sun has the following: The friends of Secretary McCulloch state that there has been an open rupture between him and the President. He says he will resign on Tuesday, just as soon as the vote is taken on impeachment, whether the President is convicted or not.

A general conference of Southern Congressmen elect, and other persons now in Washington on business connected with the admission of the Southern States, will occur at the rooms of the North Carolina delegation this morning. It is expected that a definite plan regarding the participation of the delegates in the Chicago convention will be effected.

NATIONAL TELEGRAPH.

THE NATIONAL

TELEGRAPH COMPANY

A NEW enterprise, to be known as the National Telegraph Company, has been organized with valuable franchises conferred by the State of Louisiana, for the purpose of establishing telegraph lines in all the States, and connecting the principal centers in the United States. The stock is to be issued upon the same plan as that of the Merchant's Union Express Company, which recently commenced operations. The object is to construct the desired telegraph lines in the enterprise. This is done, not so much to dispose of the stock to as to secure the interests of the country which the lines pass.

THE CAPITAL IS TO BE

In 100,000 shares of the par value of

$100 PER SHARE

But the actual amount to be paid in cash is

and this amount is to be paid as follows: One per cent. of the par at the time of subscribing, and no more until the entire capital has been subscribed, and then on calls to be made by the Board of Directors, installments not to exceed five per cent. per month. When thirty-five per cent of the par value of the shares has been paid, certificates of stock will be issued. This will give the Company a paid up

CASH CAPITAL OF $3,500,000

Which will be sufficient to duplicate lines to all or nearly all the paying points reached by the present monopoly.

The present Telegraph Companies throughout the country have been consolidated into one huge monopoly, and are now earning over SIX MILLIONS OF DOLLARS per year, or over one hundred per cent. on the actual cost of their lines and present capital having been watered over ONE THOUSAND per cent.

THE NATIONAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY have a recognition from the United States Government of the importance of their enterprise, with a grant of the most valuable franchises ever conferred upon a telegraph company. No competing line has ever had the right now granted by Congress to this company to construct and operate lines over every RAILROAD and MAIL ROUTE in the United States. The position of this Comp ny differs from that of any company that has been organized, the question of the RIGHT OF WAY IS FOREVER SETTLED.

The Stockholders of this Company cannot be sold out or TRANSFERRED to any other Company. The act of Congress under which this Company was formed prohibits any transfer of the franchise granted.

Our object is to bring about Direct Trade, and hope the people will favor us in every possible way in this important enterprise.

CALLS---HOW TO BE MADE

One per cent of the Stock will be required on subscribing; and subsequent calls, not to exceed five per cent. per month, will be made by the Board of Directors, from time to time, as may be necessary to supply funds to construct and equip the lines; but no calls will be made after the one per cent. is paid, until the entire Capital Stock shall have been subscribed

ACTUAL CAPITAL REQUIRED

The Company confidently believe that thirty-five per cent of the Capital Stock will construct and fully equip

25,000 Miles of Wire

Which will connect all the commercial centers and important places in the United States. This option rents upon the most reliable estimates and responsible offers to construct and equip the lines.

THE NATIONAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY is organized under the laws of the state of New York, and franchises conferred by an act of Congress, approved July 24, 1866.

TUESDAY : : : : MAY 12, 1868

Poor old Virginia! She is the mother of States and statesmen. Her renown is traditionary. Her brave and generous people have given to America much of its historic greatness. It was hoped that the fame and glory of the Old Dominion would have spared her from that shame and humiliation which Radical hate fixed upon other States. But it seems the lowest depth of abasement has been reserved for the brightest jewel in the sisterhood of States. For several months a State Convention has been in session at Richmond for the purpose of reconstructing Virginia—a State in which WASHINGTON, and JEFFERSON, and MADISON, and MONROE, and MARSHALL, and HENRY lived and died—a State constructed by our Revolutionary patriots, has been turned over to negroes and carpet-bag scalawags; and verily these unprincipled creatures have labored with all the energy of their mean souls to degrade and humiliate the proud old Commonwealth, and to desecrate the memory of her sleeping sons. The constitution framed by these scurvy white adventurers and negro barbarians, has produced a feeling of indignation throughout the State, and it is now receiving the execrations of all respectable citizens. So odious, so infamous is this constitution that the Conservative members of the late Convention in which was spawned this monstrosity, have, in vindication of their own honors, felt called upon to issue an address to their constituents, in which they wash their hands of all complicity in this outrage which is about to be fastened upon the people. A perusal of this able and eloquent address will produce a scowl of indignation upon every patriot's brow. It shows that the constitution is the work of a few negroes and the plundering vagabonds who are now working upon the vitals of the Southern people like maggots in a rancid cheese. The carpet-baggers—the same kind of scalawags that fill the offices of this city and county—reaped, as they do here, a rich harvest. The address says:

The Convention organized by electing a New Yorker president. A native of Maryland was elected secretary. A Marylander was elected sergeant-at-arms. An Irishman, resident in Baltimore, was elected stenographer. The assistant clerk was from New Jersey. Two negroes were appointed door-keepers. A clergyman from Illinois was appointed chaplain. Even the boys appointed as pages, with one exception, were negroes, or the sons of Northern men or foreigners; while the clerks of the twenty standing committees, with two or three exceptions, were also Northern men or negroes.

The constitution adopted by these negroes and squatters is just such a document as we might expect to emanate from a convention of barbarians and tyrants, from a gang of unprincipled knaves, who, so they hereafter secure all the offices, care nothing for right, liberty or justice. The constitution seems to have been modelled after that which disgraces poor, despotic-ridden Tennessee. It disfranchises all citizens who have held offices in any capacity under the United States or State government, and having taken the oath of office to maintain the Constitution of the United States, did afterward serve their State in any capacity during the war, or even submitted to the Confederate Government—that is to say, it disfranchises most of the respectable and trusted men in the country and disfranchises them under the implied charge of perjury—a crime for which not one of them has ever been tried. But this was not enough. This document next prescribes for all persons henceforth to be elected to any office in Virginia, the test called the "iron-clad oath," in which such persons, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, are required to swear that they "have never voluntarily borne arms against the United States; that they have voluntarily given no aid, counsel, or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that they have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever under any authority or pretended authority whatever in hostility to the United States; and that they have never yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, authority, power, or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto." To show the workings of this constitution—the object for which it was created, we make the following extract from the address:

This matter of the test oath has swept away all opposition. They (the negroes) will now fill every place; they will now hold every office. The exceptions will be too rare to deserve attention. We have negro rule and unmitigated negro rule. A black attorney for the Commonwealth will send up his witnesses to a mixed grand jury, who will send back their indictments to be tried by a mixed petit jury. A black Sheriff, or his black deputy, will take the white and black jury in charge, to eat at a common table and sleep in the same chamber. A black treasurer will have the custody of the taxes levied in the country. A black superintendent of the poor will dole out the charities of the public to the white paupers in the county poor-house. A black trustee will visit and make laws for the village school. Black supervisors will fix the amount of the county levy, which will be assessed by a black assessor, and gathered in by a black collector. A black commissioner will lay off the public roads. A black magistrate will dispense justice; a black constable will preserve order; a black clerk will keep the records of the township. The Governor and his aids will be black (after the first term). The Lieutenant-Governor will be black. The secretary of the Commonwealth will be black. The Board of public works will be black. The Legislature will be black. The militia officers will be black. We shall have black representatives in Congress. The visitors of the University will be black. The State proxies will be black.

If such a constitution should be ratified by the people, we can only say, God help poor old Virginia. It is galling to the soul to see the home of WASHINGTON thus profanated. General SCHOFIELD, the Military Dictator for District No. 2, was so disgusted and enraged at the "iron clad oath" that he protested against its adoption, upon the ground that it was impossible to carry on a State government under its operations, as there were not men enough in the State who could swallow the oath that could read and write. But proud, noble old Virginia will be true to herself. She is preparing for a vigorous campaign, and if "there is life in the old land yet," she will administer a stinging rebuke to the vile riff-raff, which, like a dirty and malarious sediment, has been deposited upon her sacred soil by the subsiding waters of a disastrous war. Her people cannot be forced to disfranchise themselves by their own vote, nor to fix with their own hands the brand of perjury upon their own brow, or an insignia of disgrace upon her dead heroes. Sustained by the lofty grandeur which noble deeds inspire, Virginia will pass through the ordeal of adversity, and rise only to new efforts and triumphs. She drove from her soil the countless hosts of BUTLER, MCDOWELL, BURNSIDE, MCCLELLAN, POPE and HOOKER, and we trust she will be equally successful in repelling from her bosom a foe more despicable—the mercenary invader, the carpet-bag plunderer, who, so he pockets his ill-gotten gains, is willing to see liberty prostrated and despotism made triumphant.

The Mississippi Valley Navigation Company is the name of an enterprise that should be especially fostered and sustained by the commercial people of this great valley. The genius and the enterprise belong to Captain D. DEHAVEN, and by his untiring energy and unflagging industry he has given shape and certain promise of success to the project of changing the entire system of steamboat machinery and freighting on the waters of the Great West. Captain DEHAVEN has placed before our people the plans and specifications for a steamer that will combine wonderful carrying capacity, great speed, comfort and perfect safety against accidents to hull, explosions and fire. To secure these desirable features, he is building a vessel, whose length is to be 365 feet, beam sixty-three feet, wheels forty-eight feet diameter, buckets twenty feet, the whole to have a carrying capacity of 2,400 tons. To secure safety against those terrors of navigation, accidents by fire and explosions, is the great idea of the enterprise. This will be done by having low pressure engines. And that they will prove successful is beyond all doubt. To make the hull perfectly secure against the usual accidents attendant on navigation of the Western rivers, to secure immense strength of hull and to sustain the great weight of the machinery, Captain DEHAVEN's plan is to build the hull on the principle of a turn bridge, by which the weight is equally distributed over all the boat. The hull is also to be built in sections, each compartment subject to the operations of machinery that will fill them with water in case of fire, and pump water from them in case of breaks or leaks. The discharging and loading apparatus will be of the best plan of elevation in use. The rudder is protected by a shoe on the keil, so that the steamer can be safely landed by the stern as well as the bow. The cabins are models of beauty, excellence and comfort, and perfectly adapted to the plan on which the boat will be operated. The passengers will be accommodated on the European plan of hotel living. They will be charged so much for room and passage, and pay for what they eat, as per prices of bill of fare. From these special features it will be seen that the best, safest and the most attractive appliances are offered to unite travel and freight shipments by this perfect boat. The projector and spirit of the enterprise is a practical steamboatman, who has made the points claimed for the success of the enterprise his special study for many years. His theory, calculations, mathematical plans, etc., have been endorsed by the Chambers of Commerce in every city in the valley, and by the best engineers and practical river men in the West. The Company that is now sustaining his views comprises many names of the first railroad and steamboatmen, merchants and mechanics of the country. The high character of Captain DEHAVEN for honesty of purpose, reliability, and honorable conduct, has given much weight to the enterprise and secured the endorsement of our best citizens. Therefore it is that the stock is being rapidly subscribed, and we hope the remainder of the money necessary to complete it will be quickly advanced. A number of the most spirited citizens of Memphis have given their names and capital to the work, and we earnestly urge our citizens to assist to their fullest ability the enterprise that promises so much for the improvement of our great commercial interests on the Mississippi river. Especially is this interest requisite now, because adverse influences that are being operated by Northern great lines of railway, and opposed to the freighting interests of our great water highways. With cheap freights and safe transportation, resulting from Captain DEHAVEN's steamer line, our city will secure much prosperity and many advantages. We are gratified to learn that our distinguished fellow-citizen, Commodore J. E. MONTGOMERY, has given the weight of his great name to this enterprise. This is an earnest of its success. Indeed, we understand he is to take command of the vessel, when finished. Commodore MONTGOMERY is a gentleman of wealth and energy, and his unbounded popularity will make the enterprise pre-eminently successful. His heart is as big as the vessel which we hope will be consigned to his command.

General WILLIAM B. BATE, of Nashville, arrived in this city yesterday, and is stopping at the Overton. We regret that his engagements constrain him to return home on to-morrow, as there is no man who has warmer or more enthusiastic friends than he commands in this city. The surging waves of the late civil war cast upon the surface many jewels, but none brighter than the name of W. B. BATE. He was the first to volunteer and the last to surrender. His wounds and sufferings and the decimated ranks of his troops attest the valor of his command. In after years the name of BATE will render our soil classic. His name and the gallant men he commanded will live in song and story. Despotism cannot strip the Southern people of the pleasure which they derive from the recollection of the great deeds of the brave men whose handsome and manly persons were bruised, battered, maimed and disfigured in defense of their rights. For hundreds of years the marauding Arabs have been pilfering the Pyramids without the slightest detriment to those historic piles—for ages the wolves have been howling at the moon without ever stopping the course of that luminary—and the fame and glory of our dying and dead heroes is as high above Radical calumny as the soaring eagle is above the pebbles cast by pigmies upon the sea shore. The South can bear with fortitude and dignity the insults and assurances heaped upon her people. But each day she learns to despise still more cordially the cruel authors of her wrongs and her woes; and with each fresh insult will she cherish more fondly and with more boundless reverence the deeds of her loved heroes, and prominent among these is the renown of General WILLIAM B. BATE, of Tennessee.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 11.

The Secretary of the Treasury gives notice that all communications relative to the purchase of bonds for the sinking fund must be addressed to the Assistant Treasurer at New York, who has full power and control of the issue of such certificates, or to the Treasurer in Washington, who will issue certificates, which on presentation to the Assistant Treasurer at New York will entitle the bearer to receive such certificates in exchange. Compound interest notes intended for redemption in lawful money must be forwarded to the United States Treasurer at Washington.

The President of the Union Pacific railroad has submitted an affidavit to the Secretary of the Interior, showing the completion of an additional section of twenty miles of the road, from the 560th to the 580th mile post, and the Government Commissioner has been instructed to examine and report thereon.

The Committee on Ways and Means will probably report an amended or consolidated bill. It proposes to create the Internal Revenue Bureau with a department. The whisky tax is retained at two dollars. The tax on cigars is to be raised to ten dollars per 1,000. The brewers have failed to get wastage allowed. The bill will probably be acted upon by the House immediately after the Chicago Convention.

While the Senate was in secret session excited crowds were in the lobby anxious to know the course of the debate inside. Frequent inquiries were made of all who were supposed to know anything of the matter. It was ascertained that Grimes, Trumbull and Fessenden had clearly expressed themselves against the conviction of the President, while Henderson was against them all except the eleventh. Sherman and Howe, according to general accord, supported only the second, third, fourth, eighth and eleventh articles. Williams and Merrill, of Maine, supported all the articles, while Johnson and Dixon opposed them.

To-morrow has been set for the trial of Surratt. The prosecution has already had their witnesses summoned. It is not yet certain that the trial will come off, as the prosecution may show good reasons for a continuance.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May 11.

This (fifth day's proceedings of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church were commenced at the usual hour, with Bishop Ames in the chair. The delegates from Canada were formally received and addressed. The consideration of the question of the admission of the Southern delegates was then resumed. Speeches were made by Foster, Crane and others. Dr. Harris offered a series of resolutions providing for their immediate admission, pending the consideration of which the Conference adjourned.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.

General Buchanan has suspended the collection of the taxes for 1865 and 1866, on the lands overflowed last year, until the first of January, 1869, upon the recommendation of Governor Baker. On account of the distress, the collection during the present year would cause much suffering in those districts.

A section of the Montgomery warehouse, corner of Front and Fulton streets, filled with corn and hay, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss one hundred thousand dollars. A large warehouse adjoining, which was filled with quartermaster's stores, was saved with great difficulty. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

The Emperor and Empress were at Orleans on Saturday, and in response to the Mayor's address of welcome, the Emperor made a pacific speech.

HAVANA, May 11.

There are strong reasons for believing that Mr. Seward, our charge d'affaires at Monterey, will immediately demand redress for the recent outrage on American citizens at that city.

Fortieth Congress—First Session

SENATE.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock. The Chief Justice said: "The Senate meets to-day under the order, for deliberation, and unless some Senator makes a motion to the contrary, the doors will be closed."

Mr. Sherman moved that the sergeant-at-arms place his assistants in the galleries to-day and to-morrow and with instructions to arrest any person who violates the rules of order.

The Chief Justice stated that this precaution had already been taken.

Mr. Sherman then suggested that notice to that effect be given in the morning papers.

Mr. Williams suggested that the Chief Justice, before the call of the roll, admonish all persons that no manifestation of applause or disapproval would be allowed in the Senate, under the penalty of arrest.

This proposition meeting with general approbation, Mr. Sherman withdrew his motion, and the doors were then closed at 10:20.

"Senators—In compliance with what seemed to be the general wish of the Senate when it adjourned last Tuesday, the Chief Justice is casting the vote on the articles of impeachment now presented will adopt the rule sanctioned in the cases of Chase, Peck and Humphreys. He will direct the Secretary to read the several articles successively, and when the question of each article will put to the Senate, guilty or not guilty, each Senator rising in his place as the name of the respondent is called. Then, Senators, how say you, is the respondent, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, guilty or not guilty of a high misdemeanor, as charged in this article?" In putting the question on articles four and six, each of which charges a crime, the word high will be substituted for the word misdemeanor.

The Chief Justice has carefully considered the suggestion of the Senator from Indiana, (Mr. Hendricks,) which appeared to meet the approval of the Senate, that in taking the vote on the eleventh article the Senators may rise and state briefly the grounds of their votes if they desire to do so. The Chief Justice concurs in the propriety of this course, and will put the question in that form, unless some objection be made. He will be pleased, however, to conform to such directions as the Senate may see fit in this matter." Mr. Sumner submitted the following order which was considered by unanimous consent and agreed upon: Ordered, the questions be put as proposed by the presiding officer of the Senate, and each Senator shall rise in his place and answer guilty or not guilty.

HOUSE.

Bills and resolutions were introduced and referred declaring it inexpedient for the Government to make any treaty tending to discriminate against the manufactures or productions of any part of the United States; also to fix the compensation of certain consular officers, and to prohibit their collecting fees; and, also, the resolutions of the Ohio Legislature to prevent the loss of life on waters under the protection of the United States.

The bill appropriating $37,000 for the reconstruction deficiencies in the Third Military District was passed.

Mr. Stevens, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported a bill admitting Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana and Alabama to representation in Congress, which was made the special order for Monday next.

A debate followed, during which it appeared that the list included the names of Governor Holden, the Judges of the Superior and other courts, and two members of Congress elect, one of whom was Mr. Bogden, a Republican. The bill was passed by 88 to 33; and the House soon after adjourned.

Mr. Munger offered a resolution to extend the power and duties of the Select Committee on the treatment of Union prisoners, so as to inquire into the treatment of prisoners in Northern prisons, and into the conduct of Union officers in reference to the exchange of prisoners, and into the proposition of the Confederate authorities to obtain medicines to be sent under charge of Federal surgeons to under surgeons and other camps, and also provisions, to be used exclusively for the benefit of the Union prisoners in those camps and prisons.

On the motion of Mr. Bingham, the resolution was tabled by 75 to 41.

Mr. Eckley offered a concurrent resolution, for a recess from Saturday next until the 25th instant, which was adopted by 83 against 67.

The Select Committee on the Washburne-Donnelly and the Brooks-Butler investigations was authorized to employ a clerk and sit during the sessions of the House.

Mr. Walker asked leave to have taken from the Speaker's table the Senate bill passed April 7th, to extend the charter of Washington City, and to regulate the action of its officers. Agreed to.

Mr. Walker offered several amendments, among them a new section amending a section of the act of January, 1867, so as to require the electors to remain in the ward or election precinct fifteen days instead of three months, and naturalized citizens to present their naturalization papers, or certified copies thereof, and providing no property qualification for any of the municipal offices.

Mr. Niblack desired to offer an amendment to extend the right of suffrage to persons of foreign birth, who have resided one year in the district, who have declared their intention to become citizens of the United States.

Mr. Walker declined to allow the amendment to be offered, and moved the previous question, which was seconded.

Mr. Walker's amendment was then agreed to and the bill passed.

MARRIED.

On the 10th inst., Mr. JOHN MCFARLANDIE and Miss ANN DILLON, by Rev. Father Riordan, at St. Patrick's Church, all of this city.

DIED.

Ordinance.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained, etc., That hereafter when any work or repairs shall be required upon any of the streets in the city, the Street Commissioner, under direction of the Mayor, shall notify the owners of the property fronting on such street to make such repairs; and if such owners shall neglect or refuse to have the same done within ten days thereafter, the Street Commissioner shall cause the same done at the expense of the property owners, and the Mayor is hereby directed to use the public carts and tools for the purpose of such work.

SEC. 2. The cost of such work or repairs shall be charged against each owner in proportion to the number of feet in front of the property owned by him, and that said amounts shall be collected by the Street Commissioner from said owners, and by him paid to said Mayor.

SEC. 3. Upon refusal of any of said property owners to pay said assessment or make, and shall be brought by the City Attorney.

Passed May 6th, 1868. MCDAVITT, Mayor pro tem.

Be it ordained by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Memphis:

SECTION 1. That the pond between Main and Shelby streets, on the east and west, and Calhoun and Gayoso streets, on the north and south, be filled up, and that the property owners on the pond, fronting on the streets bounding the same, be required to fill up the same.

SEC. 2. Should said property owners fail to perform said work within ten days after notice, the Street Commissioner shall cause the same to be done, and report the cost of the same to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, and the Mayor is hereby directed to issue his warrant therefor, which shall be brought by said assessment.

CHANCERY SALE OF CITY AND SUBURBAN PROPERTY.

BELONGING to the estate of Colonel James A. Calvit, deceased, ON TUESDAY, May 26, 1868, by the Clerk and Master in Chancery, the valuable property of which Col. Calvit died seized, consisting of Building Lots on Main street, between Vance and Linden, and on Second street, between the Fair Grounds, with a large front also on the Memphis and Ohio Railroad, and a large number of valuable suburban lots.

Also, about Twenty Suburban Lots, of from two to three acres each, on the Hernando road, and about Twenty Lots on one of the city streets, and about Twenty Lots on another of the city streets, all of which will be sold on a credit of one, two and three years, for notes with approved security, bearing interest from date, and a lien retained to secure payment.

This valuable property will be sold on very favorable terms to purchasers, as the estate is desirous of settling up the affairs of the deceased, and the property is unimproved. Many of the lots are very desirable residence lots, and will be sold in small parcels, so that persons desiring to purchase homes can do so. Plats of the property will be ready for exhibition on and after the 1st day of May, at the office of the undersigned, where all persons desiring to purchase can call and examine the property.

Terms—Purchasers to give notes, payable in one, two and three years, with approved security, bearing interest from date, and a lien retained to secure payment.

IT appearing to this cause that a subpœna to answer and foster bill issued to H. G. Merriman, A. M. Boyd, Thomas Boyd, Wm. H. Pickering and W. Lewis, and that the same came to hand executed as to said Merriman, and that the said Boyd, Thomas Boyd, Wm. H. Pickering and W. Lewis are not inhabitants of this State, but reside beyond the limits thereof, and that they have returned their subpœnas with the indorsement that the above named parties were not to be found in his county; It is therefore ordered that publication be made for four successive weeks, requiring the above named defendants to come into this office on or before the first Monday in September next, (it being the first day of said month,) and plead, answer or demur to the bill of complainants, or the same will be taken for confessed as to them, and that a copy of this order be published in the Public Ledger.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

In Police Court yesterday twenty-five cases were disposed of.

Ripe tomatoes have made their appearance in market.

A grand "oratorio" is soon to be given at St. Peter's church for the benefit of the orphans.

On Wednesday Grace Church Sunday School will have a picnic on Colonel W. H. Hunt's premises, corner Beale and Lauderdale streets.

The Varieties is doing a fine business, nearly every seat being occupied each night. New faces and novelties are constantly appearing.

Sunday evening the kitchen attached to the residence of Mr. Ben. May, in the suburbs, was somewhat injured by fire, which originated in a box of ashes.

On Sunday, at the Jewish Synagogue, Mr. Charles M. Strauss and Miss Julia, daughter of our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. D. Kaufman, were married.

On dit, that the Marble Heart, in which a well-known attorney will represent a prominent character, will soon be performed for a benefit of some charitable object.

The Eureka and Bluff City base balls clubs will play their second match game on the hospital grounds this afternoon. The game will be called at two o'clock.

The well-known turfman, Mr. E. A. Smith, was arrested in Nashville Friday on a requisition from Indiana, charging him with perjury in an affidavit in that State. He was sent to Indiana Saturday.

We learn that Mr. Leo. Wheat, the accomplished pianist, intends giving a couple of concerts in Columbus, Mississippi. Our Columbus friends have a fine musical treat in prospect.

On the fourth page will be found an account of some performances in the "High Court of Impeachment" a few days since, which painfully recall to readers of history scenes in the bloody days of the French Revolution.

It has been definitely settled that the St. Andrews' and St. George's Societies will have a joint picnic on the 24th, the Queen's birthday. There will be a fine procession, preceded by music, and a gay time is anticipated. We learn that Captain Seldrick will be Marshal of the day.

In the case of the State vs. D. G. McDonald, for larceny of liquors from the bar of the steamer Exclusive, tried before Esquire Moore, on the information of H. C. Green, the defendant was discharged, the officer holding that there was no evidence for the defendant had committed any of fence.

Our young friend Joe Locke is again in his news depot, 22 Jefferson street, AVALANCHE building, and will in future be found at his post. He keeps everything in the way of newspapers—daily and weekly—periodicals, stationery, etc. Give him a call when you want anything in that line.

OFF FOR ARKANSAS.—Our friend, Major Mart. Walt, of the extensive cotton, commission and grocery house and steamboat agency of Mart. Walt & Co., will leave for Arkansas, to remain several weeks. During his absence he will visit many of his customers, making the tour one of business as well as pleasure. As is generally known, Major Walt's is one of the most extensive and reliable of our business firms, and those he meets may rely upon all representations being accurate. We recommend the Major to the consideration of all friends of the AVALANCHE in the portions of Arkansas through which he may pass, and wish him a visit alike agreeable and agreeable.

THE LATE SOUTHERN EXPRESS ROBBERY.

—Adroit Detective Operations.

About ten days ago Mr. M. J. O'Brien, General Superintendent of the Southern Express Company, was notified here by Telegraph that W. H. Otis, agent of the company at Hempstead, Texas, had decamped with three thousand dollars placed in the office for transportation North. The facts have already appeared in print.

An associated press dispatch relative to the matter was read by detective Rye, of Louisville, who at once kept a sharp lookout on persons from the South resembling expressmen and suspected of carrying odd thousands of dollars.

On the evening of the 7th of [illegible] a traveler registered at the Louisville Hotel, who handed over the counter a small carpet-bag, which he said he desired special care taken. Something in his manner at once awakened Rye's suspicions, and he resolved to ascertain more about him. Accompanying the traveler whose registered name we have not learned, was a man addressed by him as Anderson, and both left the hotel with the remark that they intended visiting the theater.

As soon as they left, Captain Rye walked behind the counter, mentioned his suspicions to the clerk, and asked permission to open and examine the carpet-bag. It was granted, and it a moment relieved of shining gold pieces ($9,500 of the money stolen being of that character) were revealed. Upon being counted, they proved to be exactly the amount stolen, and Rye determined to make the arrest.

Late at night the suspected individual and Anderson returned. Rye confronted the former, and requested him to consider himself under arrest. The traveler was thunderstruck, and at first emphatically denied being Otis; but learning that his carpet-bag had been overhauled, he confessed, and was lodged in jail. It did not appear that the man Anderson was other than a chance acquaintance. The $500 in currency taken by Otis had been spent, but the officers of the company are all satisfied with obtaining the gold, and have sent for a requisition on which to convey Otis to Texas.

This is evidently Otis' first cruise, and the probabilities are that it will prove his last for a few years. Had he been hardened like many his actions would not have caused him to be so readily suspected by a detective who had not been furnished with even his description. Captain Rye has been quite successful in capturing rogues, and this, more than any previous feat, developed his thorough knowledge of human nature. He took summary action on no other clue than that furnished by the face of the guilty agent, who rested in fancied security more than a thousand miles from the scene of his crime.

THE CHELSEA HOMICIDE.

A Cold-Blooded, Unprovoked Murder.

The evidence before Coroner Cotten's jury Sunday developed that the killing of John Scott by Ed. Nipson, both colored, in a Chelsea saloon, at twelve o'clock Saturday night, was in cold blood, and premeditated. Scott and Nipson were in the saloon, but no quarrel occurred between them. It seems, however, that ill feeling existed about a year ago, but had evidently been forgotten by Scott. The latter stepped out on the pavement and began sometime talking to a negro woman. Meanwhile Nipson paced the saloon floor, gradually working himself into a passion, finally swearing that he would be killing Scott. No heed was given the threat; but suddenly he stopped, then walked to the door, drew a pistol and fired at Scott over the head of a negro standing just beyond the step. Scott fell, pierced by the ball, and died during the night.

Nipson at once fled, and has not since been seen or heard of. When the police visited his home sometime after the tragedy, they found that his trunk had been broken open. He evidently went directly home and hurriedly obtained whatever was deemed necessary for his trip and decamped.

THE GERMANTOWN DESTITUTE.—Another Appeal.—Some one writing to the Ledger over the signature of "Destitute," complains that the late controversy relative to destruction in the vicinity of Germantown was "shoved off by some one connected with the press of Memphis," and wants to know whether there is not "one paper which does interest itself in behalf of this (destitute) class." The first publication relative to the alleged destitution at Germantown appeared in the AVALANCHE, it culminated in a controversy, the volume of which threatened to fill the paper to the exclusion of every thing else; and we were compelled, for that and like additional reason that the shape into which the controversy resolved itself was incalculable to put bread into anyone's mouth, to bring it to a close. Doubtless "Destitute" was permitted more than once to favor another signature to the columns of the AVALANCHE in behalf of his side of the case. If so, he has not made a very courteous acknowledgment of the courtesy. It is at least a little remarkable that some of the wealthiest citizens of that community should emphatically deny the statements of Rev. J. Dix Mills, who is probably our correspondent's correspondent, and brand him as unworthy, if very things as he represents it. An inconsistency crops out of the controversy suggestive of a "nigger in a wood pile" if he could be stirred out. But it isn't our funeral.

A PROPOSED FEMALE COLLEGE.—Rev. J. C. Armstrong is in this city, prospecting for a suitable location for a school. He proposes to establish a female college of high order in this city. This institution will be located in a central portion of the city, near to Court Square. Substantial buildings will be secured, as several are now being offered. This institution will contain all the departments legitimately belonging to such a college. He pronounces this a fine situation for a first class female school. He is now President of "Bransford Female Institute," Owensboro, Kentucky, which place he will resign in June to commence here September 1st. He will have a faculty of first class teachers, most of whom are in his employ at present, and have therefore been tried. City prices will be charged for music, painting, needlework; as well as for the ordinary college course. Mr. Armstrong comes at the earnest solicitation of his friends in this city. Any further information respecting the school he is about to establish can be obtained by calling on E. Mudavit, F. M. Cash, Messrs. Brother, Goyer & Stratton, Goyer & Co., W. D. Beard, Esq., or Rev. L. C. Ransom.

BISHOP QUINTARD EN ROUTE TO THE UNITED STATES.—Bishop Quintard's Memphis and West Tennessee friends will be gratified to learn that he will soon be among them again. Under date of the 18th ultimo, he has written that he had selected the following programme of movements: On the 23d ultimo he was to dine with Mr. Gladstone, and the following day was to attend a meeting of the venerable Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, presided over by the Archbishop of Canterbury. He was to assist at Oxford, on the 25th, in laying the corner stone of Keble College. The next day, Sunday, he was to preach in the University Church of St. Mary's, after which he was to proceed to Manchester. He had made arrangements to sail from Liverpool on the 23 instant. On reaching New York, Bishop Quintard will immediately leave for St. Dibocq, to attend the convocation, which will assemble in Columbia on the 20th instant, and will, after its adjournment, proceed upon a visitation of his Diocese.

REPORTED MILITARY ARREST OF AN ARKANSAS EDITOR.—Passengers by the steamer Commercial report the arrest of our friend Colonel John Frolich, of the Searcy Record, by the military authorities on some charges trumped up for the occasion. Captain Frolich left Memphis for home on the last trip of the Commercial, and he said the arrest was effected as soon as the boat made the Searcy landing. Colonel Frolich has constantly poured hot shot into the contemptible carpet-bagger and scalawags who breathe the moral pestilence on Arkansas, and it has doubtless been determined to get him out of the way. We'll wager several hats that "Yank" will beat them at their own game.

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.—All parties who have not paid their city tax for the 40th corporate year, from July 1, 1867 to January 1, 1868, are hereby notified that the list for confirmation will be presented to the Common Council on the 14th inst., and the same will be advertised on the first day of June next. Parties wishing to avoid costs and the penalty [illegible] will do well to come up and pay, as the law will be rigidly enforced.

THE COURTS.

The May term of this court commenced on yesterday, pursuant to adjournment. The following cases have been set for hearing to-day:

Anse vs Grimm; on demurrer. Merriman vs German National Bank; motion to dissolve injunction. Cahill vs Perry; on pleading in error.

Coopwood vs Jones; decree for complainant. Smith vs Memphis and Little Rock Railroad Company; final decree. Jones vs Miller; order of [illegible].

LAW COURT—James O. Pierce, Judge.—The jury in the case of Pillow vs Memphis and Charleston Railroad Company, [illegible] the adjournment of the court, [illegible] charged until this morning at nine o'clock. To-day being motion day the motion docket will be called. Judge Pierce granted a writ of habeas corpus in the case of the State vs Van A. W. Anderson.

MUNICIPAL COURT.—Geo. W. Waldran, Judge. The following list of cases will be called for trial on Saturday next: 654, 654, 667, 668, 669, 675, 676, 678, 680, 683, 684, 685, 686, 688, 690, 691, 719, 720, 728, 738, 736, 743, 745, 746, 748, 749, 750, 751, 753, 754, 755, 756, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769 and 772.

UNITED STATES COURT.—A. S. Mitchell, Clerk.—The following additional petitions in bankruptcy have been filed up to date, May 12, 1868: James W. Watson, Henderson county; C. Underwood, Obion county; Rufus J. Wall, Shelby county; Martin & Beasly, Shelby county; H. Marks, Shelby county; Henry P. Rodgers, Hardeman county; Benjamin F. Stofer, Shelby county; Seash Sweat, McNairy county.

BANKRUPTCY COURT.—T. A. Latham, Register. A meeting of creditors will be held in the case of Leon Trousdale, J. J. Kahn, Felix R. Lanier, and an assignee appointed.

BUY A GOOD ONE OR NONE.—Many absolutely worthless sewing machines are now before the public, to purchase which would result in nought but disappointment. An attention to the owner. A cheap sewing machine generally proves a dear bargain. Grover and Baker's have stood the test for many years; thousands are in use in this vicinity, and but one opinion prevails as to their worth, the advantages they possess for embroidering, braiding, hemming, etc., and their wonderful simplicity renders them the best in use. BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS, ETC.

Weather cloudy and sultry. The river has declined one inch on Sunday, but came to a stand again yesterday. The Ohio is falling from Pittsburg to Louisville, with fifteen feet in the canal. At St. Louis, on Sunday, the river was stationary, with the upper streams falling. At Cairo the river was rising at the rate of four inches in every twenty-four hours. The Cumberland, Wabash and Tennessee rivers were rising slowly on Saturday. Though the upper streams are rising, we apprehend no danger of an overflow. The river here will hardly come up to the high water mark of 1867, although it has been declining rapidly. The Arkansas was stationary at Little Rock, on Saturday, with a rise reported at Fort Smith which is out of Canadian river.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There was a considerable [illegible] on the wharf yesterday, with a good list of arrivals and departures.

The Lady Gay and Westmoreland left [illegible] yesterday morning.

The Kate passed down Sunday night for New Orleans, well freighted.

The John Kilgour passed up yesterday at noon.

The Ella Hughes left [illegible] for Caldwell, Arkansas river, last night on the Magnolia for New Orleans. John informed us that he shipped our worthy friend James McDonnell, from St. Louis to Dublin, Ireland, on the steamer Queen of George Francis Train.

The Belle Memphis, [illegible], Captain Wm. Ashford, leaves to-day at five p. m. for White River and all way points through the Cut-off. Persons [illegible] a fresh [illegible] will find the Belle a favorite boat. The [illegible] has [illegible] the [illegible] of the Arkansas river. The [illegible] has unsurpassed passenger accommodations, and is in charge of experienced officers. Captain Ashford is [illegible] and attentive host; does the honors of the table, and is only second to Captain Smith.

Captain Frank Harris has purchased an interest in the Magnolia. He will during the summer months convert her into a passenger packet, and run her between Memphis and New Orleans.

The Mollie Able will also be placed in the Memphis trade, and run in connection with the Magnolia.

The river was falling at Cairo at the rate of [illegible] inches in twenty-four hours, and [illegible] the same to a stand again yesterday.

The Cumberland, Tennessee and Wabash rivers were rising on Sunday, though the rise in those streams is not as great as it has been. The [illegible] upper rivers, some of them four or five inches, [illegible] the Ohio, and will help [illegible] keeping the mucus dreaded overflow.

The crops along the Cumberland look finely, with prospects of a good yield, and it is the great rather of Wolters will not get on the [illegible] we will [illegible] the song of repeating [illegible] of dull.

We learn that Colonel Jacob Frolich, of the White county Searcy, Arkansas, [illegible] his arrest at [illegible] last trip on the Commercial, on the charge, as being connected with the [illegible] Ku Klux Klan. [illegible] Colonel Frolich is a gentleman of [illegible] character, and the charge is only his own [illegible] that he is a Democrat during the war. Colonel Frolich is a Mason, and [illegible] of the Ku Klux Klan, we have ordered the entire force of the Grand Council of Arkansas to [illegible] Colonel Frolich's declaration, and thus [illegible] Grand Council, Ku Klux Klan, who [illegible].

The Commercial is receiving at the wharf for Cincinnati and points on Ohio, [illegible] at five p.m. Captain Stem commands, with Mr. Hunter, an agreeable and social gentleman, in charge of the office.

The Marble City is the Thursday St. Louis packet.

The Mollie Hamblet on, Captain Thos. Hamblet on, left at 5 p.m. for St. Francis river and Ark. Fer point. Purser Dickey, Clerk Reed, Mate [illegible], Engineer [illegible], have charge of the craft.

The Frank Forrest, Captain Tyler, will be in port this afternoon to receive freight for Cairo and the lands, and leave for Cairo at 5 o'clock. Captain Williams is her purser. The Forrest is a favorite boat, and will be well patronized.

The Gleaner, the banner boat of the Memphis and Arkansas river mail line, came in to port Saturday night. She made a quick and profitable trip, which speaks well for the management of her officers, having made the run from Forty Hamlet to Memphis four days. She made the run from Memphis to Forty Hamlet and return in [illegible] hours. The Gleaner leaves with a [illegible] trip on Thursday. Captain Harrison is a special favorite with the traveling public, and his genial gentleman and [illegible] clerk, Mr. Jeffries, [illegible] Miles Evans and Billy Holmes, are [illegible].

The Belle Memphis, Captain Ashford, will be in port this afternoon to receive freight for Cairo and the lands, and leave for Cairo at 5 o'clock. Captain Ashford is a clever gentleman, and [illegible] Purser Lee, Clerk Hall, Mate [illegible], Engineer [illegible], have charge of the craft.

The Belle Memphis is a favorite boat in the Cairo trade, and will be well patronized.

The Lizzie Martin left Memphis for Cairo and the lands at 5 p.m. yesterday, with a good list of cabin and deck passengers and a full freight list.

The Selma passed up for St. Louis on Sunday. Tom Rose reports [illegible] on the Selma, and [illegible] for New Orleans.

The Ella Hughes will leave for Caldwell, Arkansas river, on the Magnolia for New Orleans. John informed us that he shipped our worthy friend James McDonnell, from St. Louis to Dublin, Ireland, on the steamer Queen of George Francis Train.

HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF.

Most Disgraceful Scene in the United States Senate on Wednesday.

The Spirit of the French Revolution Cropping out in the Galleries.

Chief Justice Chase and Senators Hissed and Hooted at by Men and Women.

How the Galleries were Sought to be Cleared, and How Radical Women Behaved.

Special to the Cincinnati Commercial.]

WASHINGTON, May 6.—When Mr. Bingham took his seat, Senator Wilson rose to submit a motion that the Senate retire for consultation. He had scarcely time to address the Chair, when, to the right of the Chair, in the Senator's gallery, a few Senators commenced to stamp their feet and clap their hands in approval of Mr. Bingham's speech. It was promptly suppressed by the Chief Justice, but very quickly spread through the entire galleries, increasing in violence as it went around until it amounted to a disorderly uproar. Even the ladies were quick to catch the contagion, and gave vent to their enthusiasm as earnestly as those of the other sex.

The Chief Justice rapped when it was too late. He might as well have tried to extinguish a prairie fire with a syringe; when he rose from his seat, and cried "Order," with all the voice he could put into the word, he was only laughed at; and for very spite hundreds who had remained silent till then joined in the demonstration, and made the Senate Chamber a bedlam. Some stood up while they clapped their hands, and others kept their seats that they might be enabled to use both hands in the uproar.

While the noise was at its loudest, the Chief Justice, in angry tone, ordered the Sergeant-at-Arms to clear the galleries, but it was manifest that without the consent of the offenders, the order could not be executed. A few cried out, "He can't do it, he hasn't men enough; we won't go out;" and there were indications for a time that they meant what they said, and were determined not to be put out. The door-keepers attempted to enforce the order by announcing it, but they found the crowd very slow to move. The Senators began to get alarmed, for really the scene began to smack of the French revolution, when the crowd used to overawe the National Assembly.

Mr. Grimes angrily asked, after surveying the scene, why the order was not enforced forthwith, to which the Chief Justice, who seemed to be getting quite nervous, replied that it certainly would be enforced. A volley of hisses for Grimes came next, and that, too, from the most respectable part of the galleries. Many a finely-dressed lady contributed to them. An attempt was made to get up a more violent insult in the way of a loud "bah," and some hootings were heard, such as the rabble sometimes deal out to stump-speakers they don't like.

Mr. Trumbull quickly came to the relief of Grimes, with a motion that the offenders be arrested, as well as the galleries cleared.

"I would like to see you do it!" shouted several of the retiring offenders in reply.

The galleries were by this time about half cleared, but not because of the order of the Chief Justice. It got out that the court was about to retire or adjourn, and those who had left had done so under this impression. Suddenly a few men cried out: "Hold on! they ain't going to adjourn. Let us see this thing out!" Then came a halt, and hundreds took their seats again, with the utmost unconcern, and totally indifferent to the order for their ejection.

Mr. Cameron, amid the din and confusion, rose to hope that the galleries would not be cleared. He did not believe it fair to punish all for the offense of some, and hoped none but those who had made the demonstration would be put out.

Messrs. Fessenden and Johnson sharply called Mr. Cameron to order, and insisted that the clearance be proceed with; at which there was another volley of hisses and a few more hootings, and the scene looked more revolutionary than ever.

Meantime, in the corridors a few hundreds of the ejected had formed into a crowd, and commenced singing "Old Grimes is dead, that poor old man!"

They were joined by the ladies with great glee. Between the verses the Iowa Senator was liberally and maliciously cursed and damned as a traitor and Copperhead. One man attempted to make a speech against Grimes and the other renegades, but the tumult was too great for him, and all around him were too much interested in the song, which was thought to be peculiarly appropriate and piquant. "Will the ladies help us to sing?" "Certainly they will," said another, and so they did.

While this extraordinary scene was taking place in the corridors, and within the hearing of the high court of impeachment, Senators were wondering what still kept the galleries at least half full. Mr. Sherman attempted to solve the mystery by suggesting to the Chief Justice that perhaps those who remained in the galleries did not understand the nature of the order. The Chief Justice repeated the order for their benefit, and again instructed the Sergeant-at-Arms to enforce it, which he, with the aid of the capitol employes could find, proceeded at once to do.

Finally all were cleared but the reporters and the diplomatic gallery. The occupants of these thought themselves exempt from the rule. The Sergeant-at-Arms quickly dispersed these by sending the posse to eject them. The British Minister at first remonstrated; then went out to find the Sergeant-at-Arms, and then again tried to secure the interposition of Mr. Sumner, but all to no purpose. He and all his choice company of distinguished foreigners had to leave.

The reporters were the last and most reluctant to obey. They insisted that they had committed no offense, and ought not to be interfered with. A few of them shouted to Senatorial friends to know if they, too, must go. They received, in reply, a laugh, which they construed affirmatively, and which they responded to with a loud groan, and a muttering comment that this was a "— of a way." The Tribune correspondent protested that the loyal press ought to pitch into Grimes. The Times man swore like a trooper, while about twenty, who had smuggled themselves into the gallery with the Ladies, cried, joined in a mock mesarthy with moan, supplemented with the remark from one of them that he "wished some fellow would put a box of nitro-glycerine under the court and explode it." One of the fourth estate insisted on three cheers for Grimes and Trumbull, and was about to start them in the presence of the court, but just then a deputy sergeant-at-arms caught him by the coat collar and lifted him into an adjoining room. An indignation meeting of the Republican reporters was extemporized in the corridors, but before they had come to any resolution, one of them, imitating the example of Donnelly in the House of Representatives, proposed that they should all go out and take a drink, which was agreed to with great unanimity.

It took nearly half an hour to clear the galleries. The scenes attendant on the order have been only feebly described above. The picture could scarcely be overdrawn, for nothing like it for indecency has ever been witnessed before. Some seven years ago, when Senator Andrew Johnson made a Union speech in reply to Mr. Lane, of Oregon, and the galleries deliberately rose and gave nine cheers for the Union and the flag, Vice-President Breckinridge caused them to be cleared. There was no disorder attending the execution of that order, and since then, until to-day, no such order has been executed.
